THE SONGSTER OF THE GROVE.

BY J. A. H.

Little songster of the grove,
Warble still thy songs of love.
While the serpent lurking near,
Strives to get thee in his fear—
Drawing nigh and nigher still,
Till he stops thy little bill
Of its notes of highest praise
To the Maker of its lays.

Cruel monster! canst thou take
Such a harmless one complete,
Who was sent to sing His praise,
All its harmless pleasant days?
In the grove and in the bower;
In the sunshine and the shower;
In the trees of blooming green,
There its beauty may be seen.

Warble still, our little friend,
Till thy days shall have an end.
If the serpent come not nigh
To rob thee of thy joyous glee
High upon that blooming tree
We may still thy beauty see—
Higher still and higher yet,
Till thou meet a bitter fate.

Little friend, we wish to hear
All thy songs throughout the year;
Though beneath thy watchful eye
Lies the serpent guarding sly,
All thy ways of pleasant song
Moving on his poisonous fang;
Higher still and higher yet,
Now our friend has met his fate!

Select Miscellany.

AN ANGEL.

BY MARY A. DENNISON.

A little pauper-boy sat down on a curb-stone and tried to think. His feet were bare, red, and cold, but never mind that—the chill air penetrated his ragged garments, but never mind that—he wanted to think. Who are these people passing him, looking so warm and comfortable? What did it mean, that they should be happy and cheerful, and he so sad? None of them had such heavy hearts; that he was sure of. He looked up into the cold blue sky. What was it, and who lived up there? Somebody had once said that God would take care of him. Where was God? Why didn't he take care of him? Oh! if he could only see God for one little minute! or the angel that the good men told him of when his mother died! Did folks ever see God?—did they ever see angels?

An organ-grinder came near and took his stand. The melody he played lightened the little boy's heart somewhat, but it didn't warm him or make him less hungry. He kept shivering, in spite of the music, and he felt all alone!—so despairing! Then the organ-grinder passed away and no one heeded the little child sitting on the curb-stone. The carriages passed by, and the carts, and a company of soldiers, but it was all dumb show to him—he was trying to think, with such a dull pain at his heart. Presently three or four coarse-looking boys gathered behind him, and winked and laughed at each other.—In another moment the youngest gave a thrust, and over went the poor, homeless, ragged little child into the gutter. One scream, one sob of anguish, as he gathered himself up, and looked after the boys now running away with shouts of mirth. Oh! how cruel it seemed in them—how cruel! The hungry little boy walked on, slowly, sobbing and shivering to himself. He didn't know what he was walking for, or why he was living; he felt out of place—a poor forlorn spirit that had lost its way—a bruised reed that any one might break—a little heart so tender that a look was anguish; how much more a blow!

The little boy stood at last near the corner of a street. An apple-stand, at which he gazed with longing eyes, not far off, was tended by a cross-looking old man.—There were cakes on the stand, and the poor little mouth of the homeless child watered as he saw one boy after another deposit his penny and take a cake. He had no penny, and though there was hunger in his eyes, the cross-looking old man never offered him a morsel.

The tempter came. The old man's back was turned, and a vile boy at the side of the homeless child nudged his elbow.—"You take one," he whispered, "and I'll give you half."

The little child gazed at him steadily. He saw something in the bleared eyes that made him shrink—something that set his heart to beating.

"I tell you to hook one," whispered the boy; I won't tell, and we'll go away and eat it."

"I don't want to steal," said the homeless child.

"Oh! you fool!" muttered the brutal tempter, and smote him in the eyes, his heavy hand dealing a blow that sent the poor little child against the wall, his whole frame quivering with anguish. The terrible blow had almost blinded him for a moment; a great sob came up in his throat—"Oh! what have I done to be treated so? There never, never was a God, or He would not let me suffer so—and that because I refused to be wicked."

I don't believe that ever a man, in his deadliest bereavements, suffered more than that sad little child. His heart was literally swelling with grief, and, though he could not reason about it, he felt as if there was a great and sore injustice somewhere.

He started to cross the street. A dark blinding pain still made his poor temples ring.

"Back! back! Good heavens! the child is under his feet! Back! back!"

"Oh! mamma, it is our horses run over a poor little boy! Oh! mamma, mamma!

"Is he hurt much, coachman?" The woman's face is ashy pale. "Yes, he is hurt badly; take him right in; don't wait; carry him right in and up stairs. It was your carelessness; the child shall be attended to."

There is no anguish now. Perhaps God saw that he had borne all he could, and so took the poor little broken heart there to heal.

How very white and quiet! "Oh! a sweet face! a sweet, sweet face!" murmured the woman, bending over the boy, and tears fell on his forehead, but he did not feel them.

"Oh! the poor boy!" sobs Nelly, "the poor little boy! I wish he had kept on the side-walk; I wish he had stayed at home with his mother."

Alas! in this world there was no mother to keep him.

The doctor came; he said the boy was not dead, but would very likely die. There was a hospital near; the poor thing had better be sent there. But the good woman would not allow that. She would care for him herself, she said; he had been injured by one of her horses, and she felt that it was her duty to attend him. Besides, it was likely that the child had no mother. Such a boy as he, with a face so sweet and girlish, so pure and loveable, would never be sent on the streets in that manner if he had a mother. Besides, (and here her tears fell,) there was a little mound not yet green, over just such a child. No, no, it was not in her heart to put the poor wounded boy away. Let him stay, whether he lived or died.

The weary, weary days passed on. One morning the little boy opened his dim blue eyes, but he did not know himself. His glance fell wearily on his hands.—There were white bands around his wrists, with ruffles on them. The bed was so snowy white, too, and a crimson light fell over everything.

"Dear God, I am in Heaven!" murmured the child; "yes, God will take care of me now."

What visions of loveliness glanced forth from the shadow behind the bed! The rich curls fell around a face of exquisite beauty; the beaming eyes looked love and gladness upon him.

"O, yes indeed, there is an angel!" he said softly, "I am glad. They won't knock me over again; they won't want me to steal apples here; and perhaps I shall never die again. Now I want to see my mother."

"My dear boy, are you better this morning?" asked a low, soft voice.

He turned slowly, wearily.

"Is it mother?" he murmured.

"O yes," and there were quick sobs and tears; "yes, my little child, I will be your mother, and you shall be my son.—Will you love me dearly?"

"Yes, I do love you mother. Is this Heaven?"

Heaven! no, darling, it is earth; but God sent you here to be loved and cared for. See, here is a little sister, and you will be very happy with her. Kiss him, Nelly.

Her rosy lips touched his pale ones, and a heavenly smile lighted up his face. The past was not forgotten, but it was gone.—No more mouldy crusts, oaths, harsh words and blows. No more begging at basement doors, and looking half famished, to envy a dog gnawing a bone in the streets. No more fear of rude children who never knew where their own hearts laid. No more sleeping on door-steps, and listening in terror to the drunken quarrels of the vicious and depraved.

Yes, the past was gone, and in the rosy future were love, home, even God and the angels. Certainly, sweet spirits had exercised a watchful care over that child, and guided him out of seeming evil into positive good. Surely, henceforth he would put his hand trustingly in theirs, and turn his face heavenward. Yes, it was so to be. The dear, teachable child—a jewel picked from the mire, a brand snatched from the burning—was yet to illumine the dark paths of this world with his holy teachings. Like a dove who was to go forth over the waters, and find the olive-branch with which to garland his glad tidings. Blessings, then, on all who hold their arms out toward needy little children, making their homes arks of refuge.—Beautiful stars shall they have in their crowns of rejoicing, for surely there is no jewel brighter in all the world, and perhaps in all eternity, than the soul of a little child.—Wesleyan Methodist Magazine.

Love-Making

What is to become of love-making?—Does anybody make love these times?—Are these heavenly evenings to be thrown away in bitter and fierce discussions about the war? Must the good Cupid put on a bobtailed coat and shoulder a musket?—Are we to resign our pleasant trees with "one fair daughter and no more?" May we not again sit in the shadow of the moonlight, and whisper never to be forgotten words? May we not walk and dream and muse again; as of yore? Must all the sweet sounds of love, as they float on the air, be quenched rudely by "right shoulder shift arms," "right flank by right face," "four files into line march?"—Shall not her dear head rest upon our shoulder? Must all our thoughts be given up to "rations," and uniforms and battles?

Lovers, where are you?

There are sad faces in the street to-night, and to-night means every night.—Darling girls in couples are walking up and down through the quiet streets, striving to look happy and cheerful, but ready to gush with grief at a moments notice.—What shall be done for them?

He wasn't handsome, that bold soldier boy, who went off in the 3d regiment.—Indeed, he was a very ordinary looking person. What a large nose he had—how awkward in his general appearance and manners. She was frequently ashamed of him. He was weak, too, and timid, and bashful, and nobody ever thought he would come to much. But he had one good quality that made him dearer to her than all the world besides. He loved as a lover should love faithfully, sincerely, eternally. "My love may not be worth much," he used to say to her, "but its all I have in the world, and I give it to you whether you value it or not."

This he would say to her as he was bidding her good-night, with a sigh. Well, he is gone now, and she hugs and kisses his photograph, ugly as it is.

THE YOUNG SOLDIER DYING.—"Bring me my knapsack," said a young soldier, who lay sick at one of the hospitals at Washington.

"What do you want of your knapsack?" inquired the head lady of the band of nurses.

"I want my knapsack," again said the dying man.

His knapsack was brought to him, and as he took it, his eye danced with pleasure and his face was covered all over with a smile, as he brought out from it his hidden treasures.

"There said he, "that is a Bible from my mother. And this—Washington's farewell address—is the gift of father.—And this,"—his voice failed.

The nurse looked down to see what it was, and there was the face of a beautiful maiden.

"Now" said the dying soldier, "I want you to put these under my pillow."

She did as she was requested, and the poor young man laid down on them to die requesting that they should be sent to his parents when he was gone. Calm and joyful was he in dying. It was only going from night to endless day; from death to eternal glory. So the young soldier died.

IN THE LONG RUN.—There is no little of repining on the part of many worthy people, which must be attributed chiefly to a habit of forgetting some well known truths. It would be good for all to remember that in the long run, the things that now fret and annoy, will all be seen to be parts of a plan of infinite benevolence. The evils we lament will be turned into agencies for good, and the sorrows we experience will eventuate in future joys.—That life is the sweetest which is passed in extracting honey even from the bitterest adversities; and he is the wisest man who can most heartily confide in that rectitude of Providence, and in the final supremacy of truth and right. In the long run, that Christian will come out well who works cheerfully, hopefully, heartily, without wasting his energies upon vain regrets and passionate murmurings. The bird sings in the storm; why may not the child of God rejoice, too, even though the passing clouds lower?

Extraordinary Scene at an Execution.

A man named James White was executed at Salem, Illinois, on The 15th inst., for the murder of Andrew J. Applegate. The "Advocate," giving an account of the preliminary arrangements for the execution, the assembling of a large throng of spectators, etc., says: Soon after this time, the public were astounded by the report that the convict White had possessed himself with a chain, and, armed with it, threatened instant death to any man who should dare to enter his prison. The report was found to be true. There had been a chain strongly fixed in the floor of his prison, to which it had become necessary on some occasions to secure the prisoners; this chain White had wrenched from its fastenings. It was a common sized ox chain, about three feet in length, and had upon one end an iron ring nearly nine inches in circumference, and by running the links through the ring, he had made a heavy knot of iron. White declared with terrible oaths that no living man should enter. Sheriff Black made an attempt to enter, assisted by four resolute and fearless men. Driven to desperation, the hardened criminal struck a tremendous blow, which happily was but a slight injury upon the left hand of the sheriff.

It was now proposed to eject ammonia into the face of the convict, and thus, by his temporary suffocation, enable the officers to take posession of the cell. This was tried but failed. The miserable murderer recoiled for an instant under the effect of the liquid, but speedily recovering himself he stood again at the door armed with his weapon. It was now resolved to drench the cell with chloroform. The sheriff was advised to disable him by a pistol ball, but answered that he would not proceed to such harsh measures until all less cruel means had failed. One or two bottles of chloroform were procured, and the atmosphere of the cell was thoroughly impregnated with its fumes; blankets were suspended outside the grated windows of the cell, and every step taken to make this effort successful. At first the furious wretch laughed at this attempt. It was clear that his wicked course of life had made him familiar with the use and the effects of chloroform. Indeed, he said so, and told the officers that the article they were using was weak and poor. He evidently was acquainted with chemicals.—In order to resist its effects, he wound his bed-quilt around his face, went occasionally to the window for air, and removed a portion of the blanket by reaching out and drawing it through the grating, so as to make an opening for the admission of the wind.

More than an hour had been consumed in these fruitless efforts to obtain possession of the prisoner and his weapon, and it began to be apparent that harsher means were necessary. White was heard to say—"They have tried hartshorn and chloroform upon me, but one has neutralized the action of the other; they are now going to try something else." He saw that he must ultimately submit, and though at first prepared to sell his life as dearly as possible, his courage and strength now began to fail. He therefore proposed that if the sheriff would give him a dinner and a drink of whisky, and let him live till one o'clock, he would yeild his weapon and surrender himself. This proposition was accepted, and White gave up his knotted chain through the grating of the door.—A dinner was prepared for him, and a glass of water, with a slight infusion of whisky handed him to drink. It was the last office of apparent mercy, and the sheriff willingly performed it.

At one o'clock the sheriff entered the cell. White came forward and surrendered himself. His arms were pinioned behind him, and he walked resolutely down the stairs of the jail, through the hall, and into the place prepared for his death. Here brief religious services were held. The services concluded, White accompanied by the sheriff and his assistants ascended the steps of the gallows without apparent trepidation. He never faltered a moment, but examined with a critical eye, all the appliances prepared for the execution. When once upon the scaffold and his ankles being bound together, the usual white cap was produced, and he was informed that it was necessary to put it upon his head. To this White objected, insisting that no change should be made in his apparel. He wore the little felt cap with which he had covered his head from his first imprisonment. When the sheriff removed the felt cap, and was about substituting the usual white one, but the prisoner again objected, and with fearful imprecations, declared that it should not be put on. Sheriff Black, in a decided tone, endeavored to persuade the prisoner, but in vain. For nearly an hour the officers were engaged in a struggle to enforce compliance. Here, indeed, was the demoniac character of the prisoner displayed. He made every effort to prevent the officers from putting on the white covering. Pinioned and bound as he was he fought with desperation. He snapped and bit at their fingers, he leaped into the air, he crouched toward the ground, and for some time it seemed doubtful whether he could be compelled to submit.

After a severe and protracted struggle the cap was thrown upon his head and securely adjusted about his face, and the strings drawn around his neck. Nothing now remained but to put the rope around his neck, and adjust the fatal noose.—With some difficulty this was at length accomplished, the united efforts of four men being required for this purpose. As the sheriff drew the fatal noose closer to its place and put the knot beneath the ear of the unhappy man, he exclaimed with fearful imprecations, "What in h—ll are you choking me for?—you are choking me, for I can hardly speak." These were the last words of the wretched man.

The sheriff gave the signal that all was ready to his deputy, Mr. Schultz; in a moment the trigger was drawn, the drop fell and that unhappy man, so lately struggling with such desperate fury, so lately busy with his terrible efforts to defeat the vengeance of the law, fell like lead through the draw and hung, slightly oscillating, a struggling, violent human being no longer.

CHEAP FOOD—A NEW DISH.—A writer in one of the eastern papers says that probably not one farmer in fifty knows what excellent, hearty, wholesome food he can have directly from the wheat-field, stack, or barn. He says: "The writer's family breakfasted this morning, July the 29th, mainly upon boiled wheat. Boiled wheat and wheat gravy. Boiled wheat and milk. Boiled wheat and maple sugar. Not wheat flour, nor wheaten groats, nor cracked wheat, but whole grains of wheat shelled from the best heads—the larger the better—and soaked in cold water two or three hours and then boiled in the same water one or two hours, or until it is quite soft and the water all absorbed. It should be cooked while other culinary operations are going on, as it needs to boil or simmer over a slow fire a good while, and care must be taken at the last that it does not burn. How easy for our soldiers to have a change in the eternal pilot bread and salt meat rations! How convenient would this little item of knowledge in domestic cooking be to the wife of many a farmer, who would gladly get up an extra dish for the weary harvest-hands! Try it. How many families are this day living on short allowance, with grain in the stack or barn near the house, because they cannot get it ground—the mill being dried up, or broken down, or occupied by the army, or suffering a collapse, so that no grinding can be had!"

POWER OF A HORSE'S SCENT.—There is one perception that a horse possesses, that but little attention has been paid to, and that is the power of scent. With some horses it is as acute as with the dog; and for the benefit of those who have to ride at night—such as physicians—this knowledge is invaluable. I have never known it to fail, and I have rode hundreds of miles on dark nights; and in consideration of this power of scent, this is my simple advice: Never check your horse at night, but give him a free head, and you may rest assured that he will never get off the road, and will carry you expeditiously and safely. In regard to the power of scent in the horse, I once knew one of a pair that was stolen, and was recovered mainly by the track being traced out by his mate, and that after he had been absent six or eight hours.

☞ "This great country will continue united. Trifling politicians in the South, or in the North, or in the West, may continue to talk otherwise, but it will be of no avail. They are like the mosquitoes around the ox; they annoy, but they cannot wound, and they never kill." These were the words of Jeff Davis, in an address delivered on the 4th of July, 1848, and Gen. Scott proposes to show him that he was correct.

GOVERNMENT RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION.—The Government pays for railroad transportation according to the following rates: Per passenger two cents per mile, for distance moved. Equipments, munitions and supplies accompanying regiments, thirty-four miles or less, ten cents per one hundred pounds; fifty miles fifteen cents per one hundred and three pounds; one hundred miles, twenty-five cents per one hundred pounds; one hundred and fifty miles, forty cents per one hundred pounds; three hundred and fifty to four hundred miles, and exceeding ninety cents per one hundred pounds; special express trains one dollar.

THE NEWS.

The Leavenworth papers of the 11th gives the following account of the late engagement between General Rains and Col. Montgomery: On the 2nd inst. 600 rebels under General Rains approached Fort Scott and seized 80 mules belonging to the Government, killing the teamster. A Messenger was despatched to Montgomery who had 500 men. He pursued Rains eleven miles, killing several of his men, when, coming on the main body of the enemy, a battle commenced, the rebels having cannon, and Montgomery one howitzer only. The fight lasted two hours, when Montgomery slowly retreated, keeping up a running fight until nightfall.—The enemy's force is reported by prisoners at 2,000 to 3,000.

A despatch dated Elkwater, Va., Sept. 16th, says:—The body of Col. John A. Washington was sent over to the enemy yesterday under a flag of truce. While on the way it was met by a similar flag, coming from the enemy for the purpose of obtaining information as to his condition. On the 12th instant a detachment of three hundred men, from the Fourteenth Indiana and Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Ohio regiments, dispersed three Tennessee regiments, under General Anderson, on the west side of Cheat Mountain, completely routing them, killing eighty, and obtaining most of their equipments. Our loss was eight killed. The enemy made an advance on Elkwater on the same day with a force supposed to have been 15,000 but they were driven back by detachments from the Fifteenth Indiana, Third and Sixth Ohio Regiments, and shells from Loomis' Battery. They have retired some eight or ten miles distant. A strong force of Arkansas, Tennessee, and Virginia troops also threatened the East side of Cheat Mountain, but we have not yet had a general engagement with them. A shell from one of Loomis' guns thrown two miles into the enemy's camp, killed ten and wounded four of them. The Thirteenth Indiana regiment had a severe skirmish with superior numbers of the enemy on the 12th, and killed ten or twelve of them, with but trifling loss.

There is now positive evidence that the rebels are using poisoned Minnie balls, and evidence is afforded that they are manufactured in the North. Last week some of our pickets captured a rebel picket who had in his possession a number of Minnie balls, each of which had a deposit of arsenic in it. He said, in answer to inquiries, that they had not many of them yet, and that they were only furnished to those sent out on picket duty. He said they came from the North and that they were promised a larger supply. Can such a dastardly mode of warfare prove successful?

A special dispatch from Canifix Ferry, dated the 14th inst., says that Gen. Lee attacked our forces at Cheat Mountain, and, after a long contest, was fairly repulsed by Gen. Reynolds. Gen. Lee has a large force, but is afraid that Gen. Rosencranz will fall upon his rear. Gens. Wise and Floyd are both retreating as fast as possible.

The following official dispatch was received at Gen. M'Clellan's head-quarters on Monday last:

DARNSTOWN, Md., Sept. 15.—This afternoon, about half past three o'clock, about 450 rebels attacked the extreme right of our pickets, about three miles above this place, opposite Pritchard's Mills. The affair was a spirited one, lasting about two hours.

The enemy were driven from every house and breastwork they occupied. Eight or ten rebels are said to be killed, and a number wounded.

Our loss is only one killed.

Our victory is complete and our troops behaved most admirably.

Our cannon were efficiently served, and rendered good service in the action.

SINGULAR ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.—Recently a stranger, supposed to be a volunteer from Camp Curtin, evidently laboring under an attack of delirium tremens, attempted to commit suicide about three miles North of Harrisburg, Pa., by filling his mouth with gunpowder and then setting fire to it. He bled very profusely at the mouth, and has probably received some internal injury that will cause his death.

Kentucky O. K.

The Legislature of Kentucky, as heretofore stated, passed a series of resolutions in favor of the Union, by a very decided vote. One of these resolutions directed Gov. Magoffin to order the Confederate forces now in that State to evacuate instanter. The Governor, who, as we have heretofore intimated, vetoed the resolutions, whereupon both houses passed them over the Governor's veto, by a two-thirds vote. After this action he had nothing else to do than what he has done, viz:—issue the following proclamation:

"In obedience to the subjoined resolutions adopted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the Government of the Confederate State of Tennessee, and all others concerned, are hereby informed that Kentucky expects the Confederate or Tennessee troops to be withdrawn from her soil unconditionally."

If Tennessee, or the Confederate authorities, refuse to accede to the demands of this proclamation and the resolutions, Kentucky will call upon the Union for troops, and will force the rebels at the mouth of the cannon and at the point of the bayonet. Here are the resolutions passed:

Resolved, That Kentucky's peace and neutrality have been wantonly violated, her soil has been invaded, the rights of her citizens have been grossly infringed by the so-called Southern Confederate forces. This has been done without cause; therefore—

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Governor be requested to call out the military force of the State to expel and drive out the invaders.

Resolved, That the United States be invoked to give aid and assistance and that protection against invasion which is granted to each one of the States by the fourth section of the fourth article of the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, That Gen. Robert Anderson be, and he is hereby, requested to enter immediately upon the active discharge of his duties in this military district.

Resolved, That we appeal to the people of Kentucky, by the ties of patriotism and honor, by the ties of common interest and common defence, by the remembrances of the past and by the hopes of future national existence, to assist in repelling and driving out the wanton violators of our peace and neutrality—the lawless invaders of our soil.

There can be no doubt about the loyalty of a large majority of the Legislature of that State. The State has acted wisely. She has not taken action in the matter until she has seen exactly what the leaders of the rebellion are after; and now that their unholy schemes have been discovered, she refuses to be a party to a plot which would forever ruin her. There is no mistaking the meaning of the above resolutions.—They must strengthen the hands of the Government and nerve the arm of Gen. Anderson. Three times three for Kentucky! The home of Henry Clay will not be disgraced.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD DISASTER.—On Tuesday night last, about half-past eight o'clock, a train on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, containing portions of Col. Toochin's Illinois regiment while passing over a bridge near Huron, Indiana, fourteen miles west of Cincinnati, fell through. Four passenger cars were precipitated into the creek, and one box and one baggage-car on top of them. These cars contained two hundred and fifty men, Companies E, F, G and I. The latter two are the principal sufferers. Captain Howard, of Company I, was killed. Up to 11 o'clock yesterday ninety-two wounded and thirty dead bodies had been taken out; a number were still in the ruins, and it was believed that forty or fifty were killed. The impression is that the bridge had been tampered with by rebels. The bridge was a sixty feet span, ten feet high, and had been lately inspected. The engine and one car passed over safely.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.—On Saturday evening last, while the ballet singers were preparing to appear in a fairy scene, in the Continental Theatre, Philadelphia, the dress of one of the ladies caught fire. As all the ladies were dressed in light combustible material, the fire rapidly communicated from one to the other. Ten of them were burned—six of them so badly that they died the same night. Two more are not expected to recover.

Arrest of Treason Plotters.

Within a few days past a number of the members of the Maryland Legislature have been arrested and consigned to the "hospital for sick patriotism," inside the walls of Fort McHenry. It is known that some of the arrested secession members of the Legislature had a programme all prepared, by which an act was to be passed declaring Maryland out of the Union and a State in the Southern Confederacy.—The movement of the rebel army up the river was preparatory to a contemplated movement across. The attempt was to be made on the day the Legislature acted.—At the same time the Mayor of Baltimore who was also arrested the same day, was to co-operate by the best demonstration he could make. By the arrest of the leaders of this conspiracy, the Legislature is without power to act, and the rebels of Baltimore have lost their cheif. A simultaneous movement of the rebels was to take place along the Eastern shore of Maryland, under the supposed direction and leadership of ex-commander Buchanan, of the navy, to aid the rebel army of Virginia in crossing to Maryland. The movement under Buchanan was made to distract our centre. The plot is exploded by the prompt action of General McClellan, in directing the late arrests made in Baltimore.

The Baltimore Patriot, alluding to the arrests made in that city on Friday, thus defends the motives and objects of the government:

The incentive to this action on the part of the Government is engendered by a jealous regard for the safety of the people. Upon this in times like the present, is predicated the transcendant powers which the government assumes. Of the exercise of these powers the Constitution gives ample sanction, and there are no restrictions upon its secret movements to thwart secret connivances against it. The remedy is homœpathic and to let the patient know the full extent of the physician's discoveries, would only tend to aggravate the disease. We have confidence in the prescriptions; for although they produce nausea in some minds, these effects are but the pre-symptoms of convalescence and a restoration to social health. When the fever is over, the doctor will give a diagnosis of the malady. For the present quiet is essential.

☞ Objection was raised to the proclamation of Gen. Fremont, issued some time since, wherein it was stated that all property of those found in arms against the Government would be confiscated and their slaves set free. The italicized clause raised the objection, and we find that application in reference thereto has been made to the President, and that he, with Gen. F.'s full consent, has modified the proclamation so as to conform with an Act of Congress approved August 6, 1861, entitled "An Act to confiscate the property used for insurrectionary purposes." We don't know exactly how the Act is intended to be construed, but if bread, meat, &c., are contraband, we think that those who provide them are equally as much so. Without the one the rebels could not easily have the other; and again, it is known that the slaves are in many places made to build fortifications, and even take up arms for the South. In this they are certainly used for "insurrectionary purposes," and their confiscation cannot easily be got over, under the provisions of the Act.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—The business being done by the Pennsylvania Railroad this year is large beyond all precedent, and should there be no falling off in the receipts between this and the first of November, the close of the fiscal year, the receipts for 1861 will be upward of seven millions of dollars! It must be remembered, too, that all munitons of war are carried at a deduction from the regular rates, and the fare on troops transported is only two thirds of the current rates. With all the business done, no accident has occurred, and not a single man among the immense number of soldiers was either killed or maimed through the negligence of any of the employees of the company.

A TALL COMPANY.—We had a visit, to-day, from Captain H. Z. Luddington, of Uniontown, who informed us that his company is now full and waiting to go on to Colonel Howell's regiment. The Captain's recruits were enlisted from among the mountaineers of the neighborhood, and are said to be a remarkably fine body of men. There are forty of the men over six feet in height, and twelve over six feet six, while one strapping fellow measures seven feet two inches. This, we think, is hard to beat. Col. Howell's regiment is fast filling up, and will be ready to take the field in eight or ten days.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

The Romance of the Camp.

The Harrisburg Union, of Monday afternoon, says two gentlemen—solid looking farmers—arrived in Camp Curtin, in this State, sought an interview with the officer of the day, and informed him that they were in search of a girl who had strayed away. The officer thought a military camp a queer place to hunt for a stray girl, especially as it reflected on the virtue and dignity of the men at arms, nevertheless the gentlemen were at liberty to search. As the old song says, "they hunted her high, and they hunted her low," but they did not hunt her "when a year passed away," for lo! in less than an hour she was found on guard, doing duty as a sentinel in the uniform of Capt. Kuhn's company of Summer Rifles, of Carlisle. We do not know what name she enlisted under to protect the honor of her country's flag, but her real name is Sophia Cryder, and her residence only about a mile from this city. She had been in Capt. Kuhn's company a week, is a plump lass of only sixteen years of age, and had so completely unsexed herself that she could safely bid defiance to any one not acquainted with her to detect her. How she shirked an examination, which is said to be made with great strictness by the medical men of Camp Curtin, we are not informed.

She is represented as a girl of unblemished reputation, and did not, as generally happens in such cases, enlist to be near the object of her affections, but merely in a wild spirit of adventure. It does not speak well for the modesty of Miss Sophia, however, to say that she was in the habit of accompanying the men on their excursions to the river to bathe; but she may have done this to ward off suspicion, especially as she took precious good care to keep out of the water herself. This is the first case of the kind that has been brought to light, but we are informed that the most reckless dare-devil attached to the Seventh regiment of the three months' volunteers was a woman—the mother of four children. Miss Cryder was taken home where she can reflect over what she did see, as well as what she did not see.

A TRAITOR CAUGHT WITH A SNUFF-BOX.—A Cincinnati paper tells this story:

A Kanawha merchant who had concluded to repudiate his northern debts, was yesterday served a trick rather unpleasant to him. He happened to have an unsettled account of $1200 in a wholesale house in Columbia street in this city. A day or two since, his creditors received information that he was in Louisville, and had made extensive purchases of merchandise, which he intended to ship to the Kanawha via Cincinnati, but that he would probably have it landed by the Louisville packet on the Kentucky side.

The matter was put in the hands of United States Marshal Sands. All the clue that this officer could obtain to the personal appearance of the Virginian was that he took snuff—Mr. Sands got aboard the Gallipolis packet, Freestone, when she was about to start. He soon found that she was to land at the other side to receive the southern knave's goods. He searched the vessel diligently in quest of a passenger who could give him a pinch of snuff; and finding a sedate-looking individual in possession of the sneezing article, he politely took a pinch and immediately displayed the basest ingratitude by serving an attachment on the generous donor thereof. The goods were put on board the packet, and the Marshall induced the Captain to steer for the other shore, which was no sooner reached than the goods were attached and warehoused, in which condition they at present remain.

SOLDIERS IN THE REVOLUTION.—The following is the number of men furnished by the different States in the revolution:

Massachusetts	67,907
Connecticut	31,959
Virginia	26,678
Pennsylvania	25,678
New York	17,781
Maryland	13,912
New Hampshire	12,497
New Jersey	10,726
North Carolina	7,263
South Carolina	7,417
Rhode Island	5,908
Georgia	2,589
Delaware	2,389
Total	231,701

We regret that we have not a census table at hand to accompany the above, but it may be as well to state that troops were furnished in proportion to the number of inhabitants. If the thirteen States, in the then sparsely settled condition of our country, could muster that number of troops, we do not see that there should be anything to prevent sixteen thickly populaStates from furnishing four times as many now.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—A Horrible murder was committed near Bloomington, Ind., recently.—The victims were a Mr. Cox, his wife and four children. The circumstances are substantially the following: Mr. Cox and wife were awakened shortly after midnight by screaming in the direction of their son's house a short distance from their own. Starting out to ascertain the cause of the alarm, in the darkness they stumbled over their son's body, who was dreadfully mangled about the throat, though not quite dead. Lying near they found the wife and a little girl three years old, with their throats cut and both quite dead. Two other children, the oldest twelve years, both with their throats cut, were discovered a short distance from the first though in these latter there were some symptoms of animation. Neither the father nor the children can survive. Two men, suspected of the bloody deed, have been arrested.

A NOBLE EXAMPLE.—General LYON, who lost his life in the battle near Springfield, had previously willed his whole property, valued at $30,000, to the United States Government.—This sum was the pecuniary expression of all his self-denial, hard toil, and great military talents. These he devoted to the Republic and having offered his life upon its alter, crowned his career by refunding to the same Great Master the moneys it had given him. Does not his example exhibit more glaringly the infamy of hundreds who, like him, derived wealth and renown from the Government, and who now lead the armies of its enemies to menace the Capitol and overwhelm its defenders? Let the boasted "chivalry" of Virginia learn a lesson from the noble soldier of Connecticut!

IMPORTANT ACTION OF KENTUCKY.—Governor Magoffin having vetoed the resolutions passed by the Kentucky Legislature, commanding the Federal forces to leave the State, making punishable with death the raising of rebel recruits in Kentucky, &c., both houses passed the resolutions over the veto, and, we presume, by a two-thirds vote. This timely and stringent action will doubtless save Kentucky from the horrors of civil war. Regiments of Union troops are being rapidly raised in different parts of the State. The Secessionists openly declare that they will not support the State authorities if they aid the United States Government. The Union members continue holding caucuses to perfect their plans of action.

A DISTINGUISHED MILITARY VISITOR.—Col. Lebedieff, of the central staff of the Emperor of Russia, is on his way to this country, on a mission similar to that of General McClellan during the Crimean war.

Special Dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Arrival of Escaped Prisoners from Richmond.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18, 1861.

Quartermaster C. J. Murphy, of the New York Thirty-eighth; Lieut Rayner, of the First Ohio; and Capt. J. Hurd, of the Second Kentucky Volunteers, all reached here to-day, by way of the Lower Potomac.

Capt. Hurd was captured in Western Virginia, and the others at Manassas. They have been confined since in a tobacco warehouse and were treated the same as the rebel soldiers.

Mr. Murphy had permission to go around wherever he chose, until just before they escaped. They found out that the Surgeons were coming and going at all times, without being challenged, and that they were marked by a red ribbon on the arm. Lieut. Rayner got out by using a piece of red flannel when a sentinel was put on who was rather green.

Mr. Murphy and Captain Hurd escaped by the same means; they then took a northeast course, and after successfully swimming across the Panun Rey and Mattapony rivers, they reached the Rappahannock, where they found a skiff, in which they crossed. During the time of their travels on land they slept in the woods during the day, and travelled during the night.

They left Richmond on the 5th inst., and all the provisions they had were three sandwitches. This exhausted, they subsisted on raw wheat and corn. After reaching land, they again took up their travels and finally reached the Potomac, which they crossed in a skiff, for which they gave a negro three dollars.

A great storm sprung up during their passage, and they were near being lost. They then struck the mouth of the Wicomico, and attempted to board a fishing smack, the Howell Cobb, Capt. Faunce, lying off Pope Creek, but the fishermen becoming alarmed would not allow the men to come on board, thinking a snare was laid for them.

Finally, through the intervention of a Union man, they were allowed to go on board the vessel, the Captain of which subsequently put them on board the tug James Jerome, of Philadelphia, which put them on board the Yankee, Captain Craven.

Captain Craven then had them placed on board the Resolute, off Aquia Creek, this morning, by which means they reached Washington this evening at eight o'clock.

All this traveling was accomplished by means of a pocket-compass and a map of Virginia; and Mr. Murphy states that it was owing to the knowledge of Mr. Rayner that they made good their escape through the woods of Virginia and across the river.

The feet and legs of these men are blistered and scratched in a fearful manner, and they have undergone the greatest amount of suffering. The men state that no indignity was put upon them during their confinement at Richmond, but that they were treated in a manner becoming prisoners of war. They were not handcuffed, but were allowed to roam at large through the building.

Lieut. Rayner was Aid-de-Camp to General Schenck.

Mr. Murphy contradicts the story of the death of Jeff Davis as late as last Monday, for up to that time he was living, as he had an engagement with him at his office, opposite the Capitol at Richmond, on that day. He can give but little information relative to the strength of the Rebel army.

Troops were constantly moving backward and forward during the time of his incarceration, but further than this he knows nothing. He says, however, that the Rebels are confident of victory, and speak in the most confident manner of finally triumphing over the Federal Government.

During the time of his imprisonment some thirty privates and eight surgeons were released upon their taking the oath of allegiance to the Rebel Government. Beauregard offered to release him from confinement on parole, which Murphy refused to accept, because that would prevent his escape.

While the party was endeavoring to escape from their captors, they made several hair-breadth escapes, at one time almost falling into the hands of a party of Marylanders. Their escape they consider most miraculous.

Notwithstanding the fatigues and hardships that the men have undergone, they yet look in pretty fair condition, except the lower portion of their bodies, already spoken of.

Mr. Murphy says that there are yet sixteen or eighteen hundred prisoners of war of our army confined at Richmond.

MCCLELLAN'S CARE FOR HIS MEN.—That Gen. McClellan exercises a careful supervision over his command is sufficiently proved by his orders for sustaining the excellent discipline of the camp. A series of directions to company officers, issued on Friday, show that he regards the health of the troops as a subject of paramount importance. Medical officers are required to pay strict attention to their duties, and are forbidden to leave the camp without express permission from headquarters; sick soldiers cannot be removed without the authority of the medical director of the army; nurses and cooks are detailed for duty; arms are to be thoroughly inspected once a day; and hot coffee is to be served to the soldiers immediately after reveille roll-call, to guard against the effects of malaria. Competent medical authorities attribute the almost uniform good health of the British troops in East India to their partaking of hot coffee early in the morning, before they attended to any kind of duty.

☞ We take great pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator, in another column of our paper. It is seldom we take any notice of patent medicines, but we cannot refrain from speaking of this Cordial, and do justice to the afflicted as well as ourselves. We have watched the progress of this Cordial since its first introduction to the public, and we are satisfied that there is nothing in use for cleaning the system and renovating the blood, that can be compared with Prof. Wood's Cordial.—Any one suffering from general debility, after using one bottle will see its beneficial effects. We have a long acquaintance with the proprietor, and know him to be skilled in the science of medicine; and anything compounded by him the public can rely upon as being just what it is recommended. We would advise all sick or well to get a bottle. It is pleasant to the taste, and exhilarating to the system. But we refrain from further comments, as any one, after using one bottle, will be satisfied as to its effects.

MILITARY UNIFORMS.—There is, perhaps, no department of military business in which there has been a more marked improvement than in the clothing of soldiers.—Not many years since, officers and privates were clad in garments which were almost skin-tight. They wore leather stocks, which were worthy of the name, for they kept the wearer in tribulation; while their padded breasts and tight sleeves made volition a matter of great difficulty. During the present war, such of our volunteers as procure their uniforms at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street above Sixth, Philadelphia, obtain clothing that is perfectly easy, substantial and becoming. The firm named have gone largely into the business of making Military Clothing, and their facilities enable them to fill the largest orders in the shortest possible time.

☞ As our readers know, it is not often we notice a patent medicine of any kind, but there is something so good in the Restorative Cordial of Prof. Wood, and it is so pleasant withal, that we step aside from our usual practice to recommend this scientific tonic Cordial to our readers. It will no doubt do all that is claimed for it. The name and world-wide reputation of the inventor is a sufficient guarantee for that, but we have tried it, and know it will exhilerate and strengthen by toning up the weakened organs, and enabling them to perform all their functions. Reader try it, and we fear not your verdict. See advertisement.

☞ We invite special attention to the advertisement of Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator, in another column. For weakness and general debility there is nothing like it; it will strengthen, exhilarate, create an appetite at once, regulate the bilious system, aid digestion and in short, restore the weakened organs to all their original vigor and strength. So valuable a Tonic Cordial should be in the hands of every invalid and in every family. Reader, try it.

TO OUR PATRONS.

Kind patrons, it is a long time since we have addressed you on the money subject, and we feel sure that the files of our paper will bear us out in the assertion that we have dunned less in the last three years, than any other publishers in the country. In fact we have but once asked, through our paper, for money in that time. The reason is, because we do not like to be "dunned," consequently we do not like to dun others. But we now want money for a particular purpose, and if our patrons who are in debt for subscription, advertising and job work, will pay up, we will have enough to accomplish our purpose, and that purpose will be beneficial to our subscribers and patrons as well as ourselves. Now we don't want one of our patrons to withhold the amount of his indebtedness thinking that all the rest will pay up and it will make no difference about his mite. If this be the case we shall not succeed. We want all that is due us. If our desires are acceded to, promptly, we shall effect our purpose by the first of October, at which time we shall extend an invitation to our patrons that will astonish them. We are in earnest, friends, and if you come up as you should, we will, at the time appointed, show you something never before seen in this section of the country. Your bills are all made out, so there need be no delay.

HEAD QUARTERS PENNSYLVANIA MILITIA,
QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE.
HARRISBURG, September 10, 1861.

Pennsylvania needs Blankets and Stockings for her 30,000 brave Soldiers in arms, to support the Government.

Every Factory capable of making Blankets, even to a single loom, should at once be put in operation. Liberal contracts will be given to all such.

Blankets should be wool, grey, 7 feet long, by 5 feet 6 inches wide, and weigh full 5 pounds, with the letters P. V., in black, 4 inches long, in the centre of each Blanket.

Stockings will be needed the coming winter—half-hose or socks, good sizes, one-fourth pound each. Let every mother wife and sister knit one or more pairs.

Let associations be formed in each county, with a Treasurer at the County seat, with whom the Stockings can be deposited and forwarded to the Military Store at Harrisburg. The United States contract price, twenty-five cents per pair will be paid to each County Treasurer, and thus a fund can be raised to supply the wants of Volunteer families, to which every patriotic woman in the State can contribute her share.

R. C. HALE.
Quartermaster-General, P. M.

In connection with the above we may state that Col. Crossman, of the United States Arsenal Store at Philadelphia, has issued an address to the people of the country, in which he states that blankets, suitable for the army, cannot be had in the United States, Canada or Nova Scotia, and he calls upon those having any of them on hand which they can possibly spare, to send them in immediately, as many soldiers in the army are now suffering for want of them. The Government cannot procure them at any price, and it now remains for our citizens to say whether they will do with one less blanket this winter, or allow our soldiers to lie out without this much-needed comfort. The health and efficiency of our soldiers depends upon the manner in which they are cared for, and we cannot think that there is a loyal family in the loyal States in possession of a blanket that would answer for army purposes, who would refuse to donate it to the suffering soldiers.

The letter from Gen. Hale opens up a field in which our ladies can exhibit their patriotism in a substantial manner. While they are contributing to the health and comfort of the defenders of the glorious Stars and Stripes, they can also contribute to the support of their families, many of whom will need it during the coming winter. The societies recommended cannot be formed too soon. We have confidence enough in the patriotism of the ladies of Altoona to believe that ere another week passes around they will have formed a large society in this place. Think of it, ladies. Have not many of you husbands, brothers or friends in the army? and can you allow them to suffer for want of conveniences which you can supply, while you fold your arms in idleness? There should be no idle hands now. Get yourselves together at once, and enter upon this work.—Just consider the number of pairs of stockings that could be sent to Harrisburg in one week, did every lady in the State knit one pair and have it forwarded; and then imagine the rejoicing of the soldiers, and the blessings they will heap upon you. It is not really necessary that all ladies who desire to manufacture stockings should become members of the society recommended. They can knit them at home, and send them in to the treasurer of the society. The object in forming the society is merely to have persons duly authorized to attend to the forwarding of the articles, receiving pay therefor, and applying the money to proper uses.—A very competent gentleman, of this place, (whose name we will give to the ladies,) has offered to give his time and strict attention, gratuitously, to forwarding the articles the ladies may prepare, receiving the price thereof from the State and appropriating the money as they may direct, if agreeable to them. Get out your knitting-needles, ladies, and go to work.

ROWDIES "PUT THROUGH."—On Saturday evening last a few fast young men in this place ventilated their lungs in the neighborhood of the Methodist Church, seriously annoying a meeting being held therein, as well as insulting citizens along the street. Information was made against them by the sexton of the Church, and on Tuesday last Constable Ely brought them up before Esquire McClellan, who read the boys a lecture and eased their pocket-books of over five dollars each, in the way of fines and costs. Let others beware. Our good citizens have borne with the spirit of rowdyism, manifested by some boys and men in this place, until "forbearance has ceased to be a virtue," and they now intend to see what virtue there is in the law.

FAST-DAY.—One week from to-day is the National Fast-Day. We have not learned of any arrangement having been entered into by our ministers, for Divine service on that day, but presume they will attend to it this week and announce their agreement from their pulpits on Sunday next. We hope to see the day sacredly observed. We depend upon the "God of battles," as well as the strong arms of our soldiers, the skill of our Generals and our sense of right, to give us the victory in this contest; therefore we should do all in our power to secure the favor of Him, without whom we cannot expect success. Let all our merchants and business men close their stores and shops, and observe the day as it was wont to be observed in ancient times.

CROSS EYES MADE STRAIGHT.—Dr. Jones, chief surgeon and physician to Jones' Eye and Ear Institution, at 218 West 15th street, (formerly 137 4th Av.,) N. Y., will practice at V. Crons' Hotel, Huntingdon, Huntingdon Co., Pa., from the 19th till the 28th of September, inst. Dr. Jones' skill is so well known in this vicinity that he need not add testimonials. He inserts artificial eyes to move and appear natural. He cures old standing diseases, and all diseases of the eye and ear, if curable, and performs all kinds of difficult operations in surgery. This is the last chance the people of this vicinity will have to consult Dr. Jones on this side of New York.

☞ We have a short note this week, from our army correspondent, W. I. Blair, from which we learn that the Blair County Sharp-Shooters are now on the Virginia side of the Potomac, in the vicinity of Fort Corcoran.—They have received their uniforms and equipments and are now prepared for forward movements. They are kept almost constantly on the alert, being either under orders to move forward, or preparing to receive the rebels, who come very close to them occasionally. He says the ball must open this week, and they feel certain of having a fight. The "Sharp-Shooters" will do their duty.

HIGH SCHOOL.—We are pleased to learn that Prof. Miller, of Hollidaysburg, has been engaged to open a high school in this place, and that the Board of School Directors have consented to fix up the old Greensburg school-house, by putting in desks, &c., for the school-room. In another column will be found an advertisement setting forth the terms of tuition, which are certainly very reasonable considering the reputation and capability of the Principal. Many of our citizens have long desired an institution of this kind in this place, and we hope they will now come forward and give it that encouragement without which it cannot be sustained.

"OF COURSE."—Our neighbor "over the hill" don't like the mention we made of a couple of candidates in our last issue. "Of course," nothing would satisfy him but a support of the Democratic candidates now running as independents; and, as we are not acquainted with any of them, "of course" we said nothing for or against them. "Of course" we go for those who have been our friends and whom we know are good men. Our neighbor should not "measure our corn in his half-bushel," by saying that we are for those who will likely pay the best.

SAD ACCIDENT.—A most sad and melancholy accident occurred on Friday last, in Bedford county. A Mr. Robert Hutchison, son of Jas. Hutchison, Esq., of Logan township, in this county, and a couple of others were shooting mark, when by some accident the gun of Mr. Hutchison, prematurely discharged and shot him in the side, the ball passing through his heart and killing him instantly. His remains were brought to his father's, and on Sunday interred, followed to the grave by a very large concourse of friends and acquaintances, who deeply mourned their sudden and sad bereavement.—Register.

COMING TO THE POINT.—For the present we are still in suspense as regards the future movements of the Army of the Potomac. General McClellan is cautious, and wisely keeps his plans to himself, so that when and where the decisive blow will be struck is all a matter of conjecture. But of one thing we are certain, and that is, that Roush still keeps on hand all the various articles usually kept in good Drug Stores, such as Drugs, Patent Medicines, Perfumeries, Oils, Paints, Varnishes, Notions, &c., which he disposes of at low prices. Give him a call.

VEGETABLES.—Those of our citizens who have not yet laid in their winter's supply of tomatoes can procure a good article, either red or yellow, by calling upon Mr. Buel, at his residence, near Mr. Runyan's in Loudonsville. He has also a supply of cabbage, beets, carrots, parsnips and celery. The advantage in buying from home vegetarians is, that you get everything fresh. His tomatoes are large sized and smooth, and have less acid than most of those raised in this section of the country.

NATIONAL HYMN.

(TUNE—8's AND 7's.)

BY MARY RANKIN.

O thou God of love and power,
Hear us while we call on thee;
In this dark foreboding hour
Unto thee for help we flee.

Lo! our Nation's sky is darkened,
Threat'ning clouds around us rise;
To the ancients thou hast hearkened—
Father deign to hear our cries!

In this land of light and gladness,
Where thy church has sought her rest,
Shall rebellion in its madness
Sever ties which thou hast blest?

As a nation we have wandered
From the paths our father's trod;
Yet, when on our course we're pondered,
Turn—we seek thy face O God!

We have sinn'd, ah yes we feel it—
Sinn'd against thy light and love:
'Tis the light of heaven reveals it,
Shining from thy courts above.

If oppression is the "Achan"
That doth trouble now the peace,
May its chains at once be broken,
And its sceptered power cease.

Let the ensign of our nation—
Like yon bow of promise true—
Still call forth the heart's oblation
As its fadeless stars we view.

Liberty! O glorious banner!
God has set his seal on thee;
And though humbled is our manner,
We will our deliverer be!

HALLO! THIS WAY.—Josh. Williams has now on hand, at his saloon, next door to the Bank, some of the finest, freshest, fattest oysters that can be had this side of sundown. If you want a good stew just call at Josh's, and you will be accommodated on the shortest notice and in the most pleasant style. Josh always keeps up with the times in the way of fresh oysters, superb ice cream, fresh fruit and nuts, confectionaries, and all kinds of drinks. Call and partake of his hospitality.

MECHANICS' RIFLE COMPANY.—A number of our citizens are now engaged in getting up a military company under the above title. "Little Blair" seems determined to furnish her full quota of men for the three years campaign, as she did for the three months' service. Our townsman, Isaac Hooper, is Captain of the above company. We hope he may succeed in enlisting the proper number of men at an early day, and be in time to take part in the great route which evidently awaits the rebels.

MARRIED.

On the 20th of August, 1861, by Rev. C. L. Ehrenfeld, at the Lutheran Parsonage in Altoona, Mr. H. W. FLENNER to Miss M. J. MATTERN, both of Huntingdon Co., Penn'a.

DIED.

On the 11th inst., after a lingering illness, JACOB B., son of Joseph P. and Sarah Trout, aged 19 years and 4 months.

In Frankstown township, on the 9th instant, Mrs. SARAH LEAMER, aged 28 years, 4 months and 14 days.

In this Borough, on the 15th instant, Mrs. HANNAH E. MCMINN, wife of Thomas McMinn, in the 32d year of her age.

In the decease of Mrs. McMinn, the community mourn the loss of an esteemed friend, the church of an exemplary Christian, and the family of an affectionate wife and loving mother. The characteristic of her Christian life was humility: always avoiding undue publicity and show, but exhibiting to all the depth of her piety and the fervency of her zeal by a Godly walk and conversation, and manifesting her confidence in God by a quiet submission to the afflictive dispensation of his providences. The same hope which cheered in life sustained her in her declining days. During her protracted and painful illness, she exhibited no ordinary amount of child-like submission to the will of God—uttering no word of complaint, but ever ready to say:

"Thy will be done."

For a considerable time before her death she seemed fully aware that her departure was at hand. She looked upon death without alarm, and patiently awaited its approach. She took especial delight in the sacred Scriptures, particularly in the devotional and promissory portions, and seemed to be in almost constant communication with God. Her mind remained unclouded till the last—her faith firm and unshaken, and died as she lived, trusting in the Lord.

THE ONLY PREPARATION WORTHY OF
Universal Confidence and Patronage.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN,

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about 4 months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top off my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald.

Very respectfully,
BEN. A. LAVENDER.

To O J Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, New York.

My family are absent from the city, and I am no longer at No. 11 Carroll Place.

Siamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O J Wood: Dear Sir—Your Hair Restorative has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC of its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all!

Yours truly. WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like. By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W H KENEDY.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Prof. O J Wood: Dear Sir—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to answer as the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure. FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3.

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

PROF. L. MILLER'S

HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections at the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases; causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being.

ONLY 25 CENTS

per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

Wholesale Depot, 56 Dey St., and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity.

I also desire to present to the American Public my

New and Improved Instantaneous

which after years of scientific experimenting I have brought to perfection. It dyes Black or Brown instantly without injury to the Hair or Skin, warranted the best article of the kind in existence.

LABOR-SAVING WASHING MACHINE.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING purchased the right for Blair county, of Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine,

are now manufacturing them at Altoona, and intend to supply them to those persons throughout the county who desire a LABOR-SAVING MACHINE.

This machine is got up on an entirely new principle, and is considered, by those who have seen it in use, the best that has ever been brought before the public.

Among the many advantages of this machine over all others may be mentioned the following:

1st. Its simplicity of construction, making it almost impossible to get out of order.

2d. Its speed, which astonishes alike the operator and the looker on.

3rd. The facility with which it adapts itself to the bulk or quntity of clothes desired to be washed.

4th. It washes equally well the finest and lightest fabric or the coarsest and heaviest, such as bed-quilts, comforts, blankets, &c.

McMINN & DERN.
Altoona, Blair County, Pa.

We the undersigned, hereby certify that we are now using Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine and are fully satisfied that it is a very excellent article of the kind; combining as it does great speed with little labor, and performing its work in the most satisfactory manner. We therefore cheerfully recommend it to all who desire a real labor-saving washing machine.

HAT & CAP EMPORIUM,

JESSE SMITH, Proprietor.

ALL THE LATEST STYLES OF HATS and CAPS constantly on hand. It is the determination of the proprietor of this Emporium to keep up with the times and fashions, and to do this he spares no expense. He has just received his supply of among which will be found styles and qualities to suit the tastes of old or young, plain or fashionable.

SPRING AND SUMMER HATS AND CAPS,

To give the names, colors, qualities and styles of all his goods in this line, would only confuse the reader, and he would not then understand or appreciate the diversity and magnitude of his stock. It must be seen to be believed.—Go and see Jesse if you want to see a live hatter and a fashionable stock.

He has also a fine assortment of CHILDREN'S HATS and FLATS, to which he invites the attention of solicitous mothers. At his store they will find something which will excel all their neighbors in the way of fashion and beauty. Go, mothers, and examine and select from Jesse Smith's stock.

ALL THE STANDARD PATENT MEDICINES AT 1-tf. KESSLER'S.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINE HAVES NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss or Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves. JOHN SHOEMAKER, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, South America, and Germany.
